LIEUT. R. H. WALLER

LETTER WRITTEN SINCE HIS ARRIVAL IN FRANCE AND SENT TO HIS PARENTS.

The following letter is from Lieut. R. Herndon Waller, to his wife, who sent it for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Waller to read, and by permission it is reprinted:

Saumur, France, June 11, 1918.
"I shall write a brief resume of what has transpired, as best I remember it since leaving you. Of course this will contain none of the things which we are not allowed to tell. This, together with the fact that I shall probably omit many things then failing to recall same will mean a very inadequate picture of the events that have so filled the last month or so of my experience. I should have an easier job had not the news come to me that the some eight or ten cards and letters written you before arriving at Saumur (for naturally we didn't land here, being an inland town) went the way of the other mail of the Camp Jackson contingent and were held up or sent back by the censor. This I might say was not due to carelessness on our part so much, as it was having been told the wrong instructions as to the nature of our remarks. If per chance the mail which I have sent to the U. S. is not turned back, but reaches you (for I have received none of it yet) then I shall have repeated somewhat in this letter.

Before coming to Saumur I had the opportunity of visiting Bordeaux. It is France's third largest city. However I failed to mention that our trip was one of the best fortune. Of course, we, almost all, got seasick

Mine was not entirely gone (not meaning my food) for two days. The trip was made in scheduled time being favored by remarkably fair weather except for that time we became sick. No "subs" attacked us tho I thought often of the uneasiness of you dear ones "back there" when we would get occasionally a wireless mentioning the torpedoing of certain vessels. Hope the card written in N. Y. to be sent you upon the arrival of our ship reached you, if you heard nothing else.

But to return to the voyage, you must remember that a transport does not make the speed that an ordinary liner would in peace times, and you'll never know the joy we "landlubbers" had at just seeing, once again, something besides water. In fact I only saw one ship pass us after getting out of sight of land. The several saw as many as two or three. Then too France, "Saumur France" is so beautiful. (I know where my sweetheart gets her name now). I speak particularly of the rural country, tho the other is also. Just closely settled enough, together with its age, to be well cultivated without having that intensive, commercialized air of truck farm. It gives one the feeling as he travels thru it that he is overlooking a beautiful garden. In our rest camp we had a wonderful time, just eating plain, good food added to by the delicious cherries, figs, English walnuts and oranges that the peasant folks all sold so reasonably.

What a pity so peaceful, so beautiful a country is invaded and torn literally to shreds as the newspapers tell as the Germans are wont to do! The sight that met us when we landed was certainly nothing akin to disorder or chaos. The white stone and stucco houses (for I've seen but one frame building in France and that was a barn with stone foundations and a tile roof) with their red tile roofs, on a background of green, was indescribably lovely to us who had not seen land for a number of days.

We arrived at Saumur late one night. Well, I express the opinion of us all when I say we are not only delighted, but elated over the place. Not only the city itself (which is about 35,000) but particularly the school. It is probably in the first place, the greatest artillery school in the world. We are treated like officers! Certainly like gentlemen, which you know, to me is, the highest appeal one can make. I'll break my neck to live up to a standard expected of me, when the human side of me might not permit under other conditions. The training (regardless of the militaristic view point) is invaluable just for what it would be worth should you never go to battle. The officers are everything they expect you to be if not more; and the work, tho more or less intensive, is not hard because they "know the game." In other words it is quite a well organized institution and Uncle Sam is going to turn out some officers with a mighty good foundation, considering the time element, etc. My one hope is that yours truly will soon be one of that lot.

I am in the Y. M. C. A. writing. But don't picture me in a rough hewn hut, such as you commonly think of these places. On the other hand it is quite a palace! You should see it! Old, French, regal, with an atmosphere of the past and an air of romance and aristocracy. I was walking thru the grounds and gardens this afternoon just before writing and I thought of the many beautiful places of similar nature I had seen in America and I doubt if I have ever seen the equal of ———. I should say—What this was, for it is not in the best of condition, naturally, now.

Upon beginning, I was disappointed to learn that the house was not as ancient as it looked by its furnishings, decoration and architecture. That it did not belong to some French lord of history and that the beautiful old paintings, tapestries and furniture were not familiar with the scenes of royalty, but that they belonged to a very sick Frenchman who bought his title. Thereby destroying much of the romance. On the other hand 'tis not hard to imagine as one walks thru the beautiful grounds that gay and festive scenes have not been far from a place so lovely

There is much more to say but I must close and go do a little studying. I do hope you are all well and happy. I was never in better health and am as happy as I can be away from you."

Typical Young Soldiers.

Here are two patriotic young Kentuckians. To the right: John R. Mills, of Paducah, Ky., at his back is Raymond W. Gray, of Hopkinsville, Ky. They have been promoted to Corporals in Co. D. 335th Infantry. Also Everett Cappa, of Co. rulean, Ky., has been made Corporal in the same company. These young men deserve all the honors that they have received. They are stationed now at Camp Sherman, O., awaiting orders to go across.

CRYING FOR HELP.

Lots of It in Hopkinsville But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys often cry for help. Not another organ in the whole body more delicately constructed;

Not one more important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous. There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble. It is often the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.

Mrs. W. E. Mitchell, 623 N. Main St., Hopkinsville, says: "My kidneys were weak and my back ached and pained. I felt dull, tired easily, especially in the morning, and had dizzy headaches. My kidneys weren't acting right at all. I read of Doan's Kidney pills and bought them at the Anderson-Fowler Drug Co. This medicine strengthened my back and helped me in every respect."

WALLIS

50% More Power From Each Gallon Of Fuel

Due to its simplified, new type design the Wallis delivers at the draw bar 74% of the power generated by the motor.

The Hyatt Texas tests prove this statement. This means that from each gallon of fuel the Wallis tractor gives you 50% more power than other tractors which require 40% to 50% of their power to propel their own weight.

Light Weight—A Power Saver

Simplified design of an advanced type enables the Wallis to combine for the first time great power, remarkable speed, and wonderful durability with light weight.

The Wallis weighs only 3000 lbs. According to a recent tractor directory it weighs from 1000 to 5000 lbs. less than other tractors designed to do the same work.

The power usually required by other tractors to move this unnecessary weight in the Wallis is turned into draw bar power and work.

Durability in the Wallis is accomplished by simplified design, excellence of materials and workmanship.

The frame, for example, is made of steel boiler plate—rolled into a "U" shape. It eliminates all heavy braces, counter braces and I beams. It is the strongest yet lightest construction known to mechanics. This member also serves as crank case base, transmission case, and rear axle housing.

Speed Necessary To Economy

Experienced tractor users know that a tractor should not be judged by the number of plow bottoms it pulls, but how fast it pulls them. Speed is the important factor in work done. The Wallis pulls three 14 inch bottoms 6 to 8 inches deep at a rate of 2 1/2 miles per hour or two 14 inch bottoms at a rate of 3 1/2 miles per hour. This means 10 3-5 acres per day which equals the work of 10 good horses.

The average tractor is designed to pull the same load at the rate of 1 1/2 miles per hour or 7 2-5 acres per day.

Thus you can readily figure that this advanced type of tractor saves you 50% of your time in plowing.

Judging The Cost Of A Tractor

Cost is determined by service—not purchase price. The only right way to find out how much any machine really costs is to divide its purchase price by the years of service. Economy is determined by work done.

On this basis the Wallis is proving to users in United States, England, France and Mexico, that with the proper care it will do the greatest amount of work over the longest period of time.

You want this kind of service. We will gladly give you any further information you desire. Call upon us at any time.
